GMA declares state of calamity in South

HERE'S GOOD NEWS and bad news.

President Macapagal-Arroyo has declared a state of calamity in Mindanao, a move that will allow cities, towns and provinces on the island to release 5 percent of their budgets so they can quickly procure generators to address the acute power shortage.

The total amount can easily run into billions of pesos, a possible source of kickbacks for officials running in the May elections, especially because the government process is cumbersome.

In Cagayan de Oro City, Mayor Constantino Jaramella said "although there is a chance for abuse," people should "exercise common sense."

Palace lauds Verzosa; Noy fears he may be retired

By TJ Burguio

PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE Director General Juan Verzosa yesterday drew praise from Malacanan for his declaration that he would not look any more to keep President Macapagal-Arroyo in power if the May elections failed.

Gary Oliver, a deputy spokesperson of Ma Arroyo, sought to put Verzosa's statement in context and said the latter meant that he "would not support any illegal action or decision by his counterpart in the Armed Forces."

"And I want this to be the proper attitude, saying that the police—not to follow any illegal order or commit illegal actions," Oliver said at a briefing.

On the campaign trail, Liberal Party (LP) standard-bearer Ben Fernandez Jr. said he did not want Ma Arroyo or Lt. Gen. Delillo Maguila to ensure a peaceful transition of power.

Agulino also said that compared to Maguila, the career of Verzosa had had its ups and downs.

"I'll stress will suddenly be forced out of an armed craft, not like to wonder what the outcome is," he said, adding that the man was not due for retirement until December.

No bail for 25 cops charged in Parañaque shoot-out

By Jerome Aring

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE (DOJ) has ordered the filing of two counts of murder against 25 policemen involved in a 2008 shoot-out with suspected robbers in Parañaque City in which a 53-year-old woman and her 7-year-old daughter were killed.

Prosecutor General Alvin Francisco ordered probable cause to indict the lawyers for the death of Alfonso "Dad" de Vera and his daughter, the Alfrances, in the Parañaque Regional Trial Court.

Marston's resolution was approved by Chief State Prosecutor Clara Andino and Assistant Chief State Prosecutor Richard Sanchez Indalagan.

Comelec now says it can print 50M ballots

By Kristine L. Alave

IT'S ALL SYSTEMS GO—AGAIN. The Commission on Elections (Comelec) yesterday expressed confidence it would be able to print all 76 million ballots required for the automated elections on May 12.

Commissioner Gregorio Larrañaga dismissed suggestions from the Comelec's own commission on bail for printing that the National Printing Office (NPO) would be unable to meet its printing schedule.

Larrañaga said a BPS printing machine was being acquired.

Analysts: Rise in killings portent of RP's most violent election yet

A SERIES OF KILLINGS SINCE the massacre of 37 people in Maguindanao province in November last year has set the stage for the country's most violent election in recent history, experts warn.

Policitors depicting a government crackdown and raising their own small armies are one of the key trends behind the political machinations, according to independent monitors and officialists trying to stem the bloodshed.

"There are just too many private armies, guns for hire and contractors of violence," said Ramon Basilio, executive director of the Philippine Institute for Peace, Violence and Terrorism Research.

The government must urgently seek ways to deter armed groups and ensure they are not used for election-related purposes," Basilio added.

Philippine National Police Director General Juan Verzosa underscored the government's commitment to ensure peace and security during the May 12 elections. He said he would use all available resources to ensure the safety of voters and candidates.

RP calls Burma's election a farce without Suu Kyi

KANBODON—A DECISION BY Burma's military junta to bar pro-democracy leader Aung San Suu Kyi from representing elections drew sharp criticism from around the world, with the Philippines calling it "a farce."

A new election law announced on Wednesday prohibits anyone convicted of a crime—as Suu Kyi was in August last year—from being a member of a political party. That makes the desired democracy leader ineligible to become a candidate in elections scheduled for some time later this year.

"Unless they release Aung San Suu Kyi and allow her and her party to participate in elections, it's a complete farce and, therefore, contrary to their roadmap to democracy," Foreign Secretary Alberto Romulo told The Associated Press.

The Philippines is a partner with Burma, also called Myanmar, in the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, whose 18 members rarely voice criticism.

Don't be fooled by clouds; it won't rain yet

THOUGH IT HAS BEEN CLOUDY IN RECENT days, the weather bureau says there is very little chance of rain.

However, according to Bureau of Meteorology, temperatures may be expected to rise again on Friday when the clouds are expected to rise.

Bureau said the recent cloudy weather was because of the arrival of a cold front affecting the area. This front is expected to spread over the area in the region, especially the western part of Luzon, by mid.

"It is true, it will only be a cold front," said Bureau of Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA).

The cold fronted cold front is expected to spread over the area in the region, especially the western part of Luzon, by mid. The cold front is expected to spread over the area in the region, especially the western part of Luzon, by mid.

"It is still going to be hot because the clouds are still covering the area from the west. The temperature will rise once we will experience ing cloudy weather. We expect the hot weather to continue by Friday," he said.

Still, despite the clouds, the weather and humid season will start from the Pacific, so after the clouds in the next few days, with temperatures ranging from 34 and 35 Celsius.

In the Metro Manila, some hot weather can be expected because of the big cloud formation, especially in the eastern section of the region, he said.

Since Manila and the rest of the country have lately been experiencing heavy temperatures, a result of the El Niño phenomenon, or the unusual warming of sea surface temperatures in the Pacific which brings hot weather and drought.

SHARING CAMARADERIE STUFF—POWER SA PO Blasting Philippine vice president and candidate Gloria Arroyo from Manila said Thursday he'll be ready to take over in the event both he and ex-President Joseph Estrada lose and Erap escapes to end their 640-day term.

Erap has said he'll be willing to turn over the office to the vice president if he manages to finish his program of government before the end of his six-year term.

"I originally declared to not be president," said Duterte in a speech announcing that Duterte was winning Philippine oversight form.

"When I was mayor of Marikina, I was able to generate billions of pesos and millions of people were under my care. The only difference is the president is in charge of the whole Philippines," he said.

Keep off politics, priests told

THE TOP CLEVELAND PRIESTS IN THE country yesterday warned the religious community from entering candidates in the May 18 election.

In a circular, Catholic Bishop's Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) president Jose Adolfo was told priests and bishops must strictly avoid getting involved in politics as taught by the Church.

Catholicism's movement came after its split with the Anglican communion, which is a member of the Anglican Communion and is presidential candidate JC de la Rosa.

The priests said that De la Rosa, who is a member of the Catholic Church's priestly order, is a member of the Anglican Communion.

"The Church must remain free from political involvement," said the circular.

The priests also said that the use of the pulpit for political purposes is a violation of the canon law of the Church, they declared, and declared the bishop of Manila City.

Catholicism said the clergy should focus on teaching moral principles and living moral guidelines-political activities.

"It must be admitted though that sometimes even teaching moral principles is actually interrupted by some as political activities of actual circumstances, sometimes, we have to be involved with it," he said.

"It is not a member or leader of such a movement, but a member of such a movement, and becomes a candidate or a member of such a movement."

The members of the Anglican Communion said CBCP priests came in a surprise as the influential group had refused to endorse candidates in the past, preferring to remain neutral in the task. It is to follow in choosing where to vote for the members of the Anglican Communion, but has been a member of the Anglican Communion.

The last 'rigodon'?

THE GOOD NEWS IS, PRESIDENT MACARANGAL-Nerissa has appointed old hands to the new Cabinet and sub-Cabinet vacancies. With less than four months left in his term, this is the approach that best guarantees continuity in policy and best prepares the agencies of the executive branch for a transition. The bad news is, none of the old hands can write as a transitional figure at all.

EDITORIAL It is a step down from his previous post as trade and industry secretary, but Fray Ferdi's appointment to the policy-making Monetary Board seems a sensible choice. It would have been better for Joeli Lapan, now Manila's successor as the Department of Trade and Industry, to have stayed on at the Department of Education, but we can understand why the President placed the former business executive at the DTI. The promotion of undersecretaries Bernie Francisco and Joaquin Lagayra to the helm of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Budget and Management, respectively, is also welcome. Indeed, Lagayra's appointment mollifies the anxiety of those who believed early reports that the President was going to name himself budget secretary which would have seriously influenced political pendums.

The appointment of Macarangel's new Juan Durano, as the first chief of the newly established Mindanao Development Authority in Mindao, seems both inevitable and wise. And the designation of Ricardo Saludo, formerly chairman of the Civil Service Commission and Cabinet secretary, as chief spokesperson for the President and the administration explains in vivid to local media, represents the wise use of available resources.

But we raise with concern that Undersecretary Gary Olivero remains a deputy spokesman of the President's. Since his dual citizenship became public, Olivero should have had the strength of character and the sense of honor to resign, gracefully, from public service. (It is here that we express our unreserved disapproval.) Indeed, it was Olivero's appointment to the position of Undersecretary, in itself, that was a humiliating reminder that, where it should be (as goes away with a view), the Arroyo administration can be accused again to violate the law with little consequence.

(We will also continue to reflect from Olivero's inaction to the intelligence interpretations of Malacañang reality. The other day, he said that judging from the "mailing lists" and "good signs" of the Cabinet members appeared in pictures of the anti-bullying, the Cabinet and President Arroyo were ready to "think the administration was a team." O, yes, you know, they could have simply been posing for a photograph.)

About all, we note that the President has promoted Lando Merced to executive secretary. While Merced is a decent man, pleasant and congenial to everyone, he also betrays the office of executive secretary with the weight of his military background and his blind loyalty to President Arroyo. The true weight of that loyalty can be measured in his plan, complete reorganization of the Senate in the NIN-270 term.

A member of the President's inner circle, Mercedo, by assuming the pivotal post of "Little President," reminds the public of the disquiet, neo-manipulation, neo-authoritarian, nature of this administration: its successful attempts to limit off independence, complicity in the House of Representatives, its callous response to empty the assets of provinces, its scandalous refusal to be held accountable through its abuse of executive privilege.

A police general when the President assumed office in 2001, Mercedo, by assuming the pivotal post of "Little President," reminds the public of the annual manner of its generals in the official history of the police. In fact, Mercedo succeeds another graduate of the Philippine Military Academy, Mañabo Eusebio.

To be sure, Mercedo has told reporters that Malacañang is keen on "providing a very orderly transition from this administration to the next." Like Olivero, however, he hardly seems like the transitional figure this time of transition needs.

Gov't lost P300M in new land deal

OVERALL OF THE ABOVE INFORMATION seems to be a very good thing for the President and his administration. But the Government seems to be losing out on a huge piece of land, the extent of which they would all be failed to see. Can we blame them if they are not really themselves with golden parachutes for when they have to jump out, or the pushed out of a vehicle spinning down toward earth?

The latest would you will hear for the first time is this, at a budget price, a piece of government land in Manila is a private corporation.

The Manila City Council (MCC) sold a 2.8-hectare piece of land for P200,000 to the Milling Corp. for only P15,000 per square meter. The land was sold for P200,000 per square meter. The land was sold for P200,000 per square meter. The land was sold for P200,000 per square meter.

The President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million.

In August 2001, the National Housing Authority sold another adjacent property for P150,000 per square meter. This is the time of the sale in August 2001, the National Housing Authority sold another adjacent property for P150,000 per square meter. This is the time of the sale in August 2001, the National Housing Authority sold another adjacent property for P150,000 per square meter.

As I See It

And it's true. The President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million.

The difference between the two cases is that the President's land was sold for P200,000 per square meter. The land was sold for P200,000 per square meter. The land was sold for P200,000 per square meter.

The Office of the Undersecretary is now investigating the deal. It is the time of the investigation in the Office of the Undersecretary. It is the time of the investigation in the Office of the Undersecretary. It is the time of the investigation in the Office of the Undersecretary.

In March 2001, the National Housing Authority (NHA) and its affiliates entered into a joint venture agreement with the President's land. This is the time of the joint venture agreement in March 2001, the National Housing Authority (NHA) and its affiliates entered into a joint venture agreement with the President's land.

Education: Elite vs democratic approaches

IF YOU MAILED AT AVERAGE PARENTS IN THE Olympic or Asian games, you might mistakenly think of the operational running of the Olympics. It is easy to forget that great athletes are not only trained and coached, but also they are trained to win the gold medal from which you are receiving, and that is what is a big factor in the school system. It is easy to forget that great athletes are not only trained and coached, but also they are trained to win the gold medal from which you are receiving, and that is what is a big factor in the school system.

The same thing with education in general. While I admit the private education system is better, I also wonder if the public system is better. It is easy to forget that great athletes are not only trained and coached, but also they are trained to win the gold medal from which you are receiving, and that is what is a big factor in the school system.

It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win.

PASSION FOR REASON

And it's true. The President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million.

The challenge today is to broaden the reach of the program. It is the time of the challenge today. It is the time of the challenge today. It is the time of the challenge today. It is the time of the challenge today.

It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win.

ing into, and preparing the commercial and industrial areas.

It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win.

When the revolution started in October 1902, the revolution started in October 1902, the revolution started in October 1902, the revolution started in October 1902, the revolution started in October 1902.

When it is known that the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million. This is the time of the sale in June 2001, the President's land has already lost P300 million.

On the 24th anniversary, however, MCC will sell the 2.8 hectares parcel to the Milling Corp. for only P15,000 per square meter.

It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win. It is not always easy to win, and it is not always easy to win.

RUBY ROSE MURDER CASE

Victim's spouse linked to slay

By Jennifer Bering and Beverly T. Natividad

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE (DOJ) has ordered the filing of a particide charge against the husband of Ruby Rose Barrameda-Jimenes, sister of actress Rochelle Barrameda.

In a 32-page resolution dated March 1 and signed by then Justice Secretary Aguirre Devanadera, the DOJ granted the petition for review filed by the Barrameda family, saying the statements made by the lone eyewitness in the case, Manuel Munera, about Manuel Jimenes Jr.'s involvement in his wife's killing, could not be considered hearsay.

But at the same time, Devanadera ordered the withdrawal of the imputed intention for murder against one of the accused, Lope Jimenes, uncle of Manuel Jr. Lope, along with Manuel Jr.'s father, Manuel Jimenes Jr., and five other persons, were charged with the death of Ruby Rose whose body was found slumped in concrete inside a road tunnel which was filled out of thousands of vehicles last year.

She had been strangled to death. Devanadera granted the petition for review filed by Lope's lawyer who had argued that there could not have been any conspiracy between his client and Manuel Jr. since the two had been estranged for some time before the crime was committed.

Reached for comment, Rochelle Barrameda said they would appeal the DOJ decision and continue the inclusion of their kinematics in the murder complaint.

PDEX OKs listing of P10B in bonds issued by Gokongwei property firm

PHILIPPINE listing and Exchange Corp. (PDEX), the country's bond exchange, has approved the listing of P10 billion in bonds issued last year by the Gokongwei property development arm, Robinson Land Corp.

In a disclosure to the Philippine Stock Exchange, SEC and PDEX last placed the listing of the following P10 billion bonds effective March 10: P5 billion worth of fixed-rate five-year bonds carrying an interest rate of 6.5 percent per year and due on July 14, 2014 and P5 billion worth of fixed-rate five-year bonds carrying an interest rate of 6.5 percent per year and due on July 14, 2014.

This should pave the way for the secondary market trading of the said bonds.

The bond issues carry the highest credit rating of P100,000 by Philippine Ratings Agency Service Corp. (PhilRatings), indicating that the debt issue is of the highest quality with minimal credit risk and that the issuer's capacity to meet its financial obligations is extremely strong, in keeping with the rating. PhilRatings also assessed PDEX's operating performance and strong cash flow from a diverse portfolio of real estate assets. Doris C. Fontana

Nido moves to raise funds

ALIBAGAN from Nido Petroleum Ltd and the joint venture operating service contract (JSC) had formed one 12.5 percent of the contract to TG World (PH) Corp., a part of the family holding strategy for the Filipino program in northwest Palawan.

Nido has formed out a 7.5 percent interest in the JSC, while, Nido Petroleum Philippines Inc. (NPP) did the same for another 4.9 percent interest.

Nido said its terms and conditions are worth $6.75 million, of which $3.2 million would be paid upfront. The balance will fall due when the Tundala oil field begins commercial production. It said, however, possible the details of the JSC deal.

Nido said the agreements would bring down its pre-existing liability to 12.5 percent, which would retain its operating assets. TG World would have a 30.1 percent interest in NPP, while Nido Petroleum would have a 15 percent stake.

Under the deal, TG World will also market its own share of the crude oil produced from the JSC with Tundaga Petroleum. Amy S. Flores

CONSLA President's Report 2010

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness and health of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were 20 men, aged 40-50 years, who were sedentary and had no known cardiovascular disease. They were randomly assigned to either a control group (n=10) or a training group (n=10). The training group participated in a 12-week program of aerobic exercise, three times per week, for 45 minutes per session. The control group did not participate in any exercise program. Physical fitness was assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks using a variety of tests, including a maximal aerobic test, a submaximal aerobic test, and a balance test. Health was assessed using a questionnaire that asked about symptoms of cardiovascular disease, such as chest pain, shortness of breath, and fatigue. The results of the study showed that the training group had significantly higher levels of physical fitness and better health than the control group at 12 weeks. The training program was effective in improving the physical fitness and health of sedentary, middle-aged men.

Mango picking, anyone? Agri-tourism takes root in Zambales

By James T. Gaud

CLIMBING TREES, PLUCKING MANGOES, peeling the fruits and dipping them in "ice cream" with mangoes on list tourism items that can be done during the countrywide Agri-tourism Week. And that tasty, pleasurable pastime may soon be joined with those activities enough to be a big attraction.

In a bid to promote agricultural tourism in the country, the Philippine Tour Operators Association (PTOA) and the Philippine Tour Operators Association launched the Super Mango Agri-tourism Tour on March 4 during the Zamboanga Mangrove Festival.

With tourism in the summer staple picking up in the Asia-Pacific market, particularly among foreigners, it is about time the national fruit was packaged in a tourism package, PTOA president Cesar Cruz says.

Nothing new

Agri-tourism tours are nothing new. "You go anywhere to the world, and there will be agri-tourism. Europe has it, even here in the Philippines, vineyards and wineries. The United States has apple-picking tours. Why can't we have that program with our mangoes?" Cruz says.

He says that the domestic market actually looks forward to such tours.

On a recent trip to Zamboanga, he and his wife and children went to visit their mango grove.

During the tour, Metro Manila-based guests couldn't resist taking home Super-old mango seedlings (from P100 per bundle, mango P120-P200 per kilo, depending on the variety) and bags of fresh mangoes.

According to Zamboanga Vice Mayor Dennis, around 10 percent of the people in the province are involved in mango farming.

"Mangoes are associated," Dennis says, "with the provincial tourism."

Other conditions such as tourism, unique natural resources, and the "hot brands" of some regions in the Philippines, mangoes the most appealing in the world, he adds.

The National Book of World Records attests to this. In 1995, it listed the Super Mango Agri-tourism as the world's first agri-tourism. That record was set in Zamboanga, which hosts itself as the world's top representative of mangoes in the Philippines.

Hands on

Those who wish to take part in the Super Mango Agri-tourism Tour will experience hands-on from harvesting and even processing. They can learn to propagate, plant and grow mango products at the Kanto Mangrove Technological University, Los Mochales campus. Of course, participants can leave their fill of mangoes. Along the way.

Also, they can try the mango and seed water on sale and shop for other delicacies, such as dried and smoked fruits.

Tours will be held during the mango season, which starts in November and December and May, says Remy Sebastian, senior officer of the Department of Tourism Office of Product Research and Development (DOT-OPRD).

For long-term success, officials will continue to coordinate with the mango sector. This time, visitors will be brought to mango groves and agri-tourism destinations. The Super Mango Agri-tourism

Costly mango tours, Zamboanga

The cost of the mango tour—starting from the capital and ending in Zamboanga—is P10,000. It includes transportation, food, and accommodation.

"You can make it in the package, depending on your accommodation," he adds.

Top ten

Zamboanga, a four-hour road drive from Metro Manila, was among the top 10 tourist destinations in the country last year. The province has an income in tourism (P125,771 in 2009, from P18,542 in 2004). DOT stands alone.

Other advantages include its rich culture and historical landmarks, such as the Casa del Alipodio, the first house of the Kanto Mangrove Technological University.

"But I believe agri-tourism will be a big boost," Dennis says.

High yield

Despite the 11 Philippines' destinations, mango trees in Zamboanga continue to have high yield.

Tourism stakeholders are confident that agri-tourism promotion will drive the growth of the local economy.

"With promoting the beauty of having a good environment, we're promoting all these natural products, we're working people to the most extent of... nature," Cruz adds.

Cruz hopes to spread the agri-tourism program in Zamboanga in other regions in the country.

"Just the way we did with the culinary program started last year ago," he says, citing the success of Culinary Tagalog in Pangasinan and Bulacan, and similar tours being held in Pangasinan, Cebu and Iloilo.

TOURISTS have fun at harvesting event in Zamboanga.

THE BIG GET AT THE official opening of Manila's first Hermès boutique last Wednesday was a stunning 30-cm amethyst crocodile Birkin with over nine-carat diamonds.

The sale? Let's just say, as much as a good six of Makarandos.

It's true that a Birkin once reached the roof floor in most of Hermès' 238 stores (well, except perhaps at Hermès' Paris store at 24 rue de la Harpe, Saint-Hippolyte, but we'll get to that later).

My list of dream beauty products

The obsession with whiter, flawless skin is no secret in Asian society

AS AN ADOLESCENT, I HAD A wish list of beauty products that I thought would never get invented. Thanks to technology and fierce competition in the beauty industry, there have been several beauty innovations that are now available, but not all of them are for the best.

Here are my favorite beauty products.

LANCÔME Rose Expert ON Aglypt Intense Whitening Serum and Lift Essence. The skin is so moist in Asian society. However, we are still used to dry skin, so I like to use a product to keep my skin hydrated.

I'm glad I found the Aglypt, which is designed to increase the brightness of skin, eliminate dark spots and fine lines.

The new Rose Expert ON-White Aglypt is a reformulation of the Rose Expert whitening serum line that targets melanin in the skin and epidermis, thus more effective at skin brightening. It leaves skin with better tone, radiant complexion and clarity.

I will apply the Aglypt serum for extra moisture, dark spots and use the Rose Expert serum for skin brightening. In Aglypt, there are no preservatives in the skin. There have been no benefits for me and since brown spots have faded. The big ones, though, just lighten and fade, leaving my skin clear.

LANCÔME Double Whitening Underwear Face Stick SPF50. Both underarms have played a big role in my skin. They are not just for the armpits. When you are already having body odor, will you put on back and chest?

The stress brought back my skin very slowly and only for a while. When they really do it, you can see the skin and let your skin gently exfoliate till it comes out on its own.

If your skin is dark, it can take as long as four years to see results when you go to a doctor for a medical cream to speed up the process.

LANCÔME Double Whitening Underwear Face Stick SPF50. It contains super whitening ingredients like Glycolic, Lactic acid and Adhema in substantial amounts to encourage skin to move itself while simultaneously lightening the new skin that emerges. Mine became lighter than the rest of my skin in under two weeks of day and night use.

Non-invasive post-partum treatments

POSTPARTUM IS UNCOMFORTABLE, the joy it brings is hard to remember. At two pregnancies however, I find there are still a lot of positives.

Obviously I find there should be a support group for us who have just given birth. Post-partum depression is something we can actually help by being positive. Thinking of ways to get our pre-pregnancy body back is a good way to get out of the rut. Not only does our body change but so does our skin. Some changes are permanent but most aren't, and that's what we should focus on.

During one of my last good days I call it Alone Again Time and tell her my concerns, finally she'd shed all stress from me. I'm a bit of a new-breast treatment I see it, that knowing there can be something else actually made me feel good. I like a t-shirt my friends have just after give birth and it turned them. According to Dr. You they are the top most "invasive" treatments that you can have post partum.

1. Therapy and skin care (post-partum) After pregnancy women develop dry patches or dry skin as well as the face (evening glow) all over the face, neck and body especially on the skin that is stretched and under the breasts. Moisturizing is the most time of choice and can be done immediately after giving birth.

2. Facial treatments (post-partum)

High levels of estrogen, progesterone and testosterone stimulating hormones cause skin stretching especially on nipples, genital area and stretch marks on the second trimester of pregnancy. Obviously, women also experience changes of the facial skin called melasma. Theoretically this can disappear after giving birth. However, if a problem, treatment is necessary.

Facial treatments include: chemical peels and dermabrasion can be used to exfoliate the skin to facilitate the lightening of areas that are darker. Depigmenting creams containing hydroquinone, tretinoin and retinoids can be used after breastfeeding has been completed.

3. Chemical peels (post-partum) Chemical peels such as glycolic acid and laser peel light therapy (LPL) may be used immediately after pregnancy to exfoliate skin but for strong chemical peels and laser peel, it's best to wait for a few months after delivery when you still depend on breastfeeding.

4. Facial treatments (post-partum) Most pregnant women experience stretching of skin. This condition is known as stretch marks and is caused by a lack of the skin to stretch or stretch phase (skin stretching).

However, if skin stretching is quite severe, these treatments may be done. Stretching marks typically remain in the early to mid-pregnancy but grow and prevent hair loss. This can be done even on the work for at least 10 sessions. The treatment is done through a laser (laser) which is used to stimulate the skin by creating blood vessels and increasing collagen in the skin. After two weeks for 20 sessions are recommended and can only be started after breastfeeding.

5. Stretch marks treatment Stretch marks are something that most pregnant women worry about. These stretch marks on the skin can be treated on the abdomen, thighs and breasts. They are the most common side effects of childbirth. This is caused by rupture of dermal collagen due to overstretching of the skin during pregnancy.

6. Stretch marks treatment Laser therapy involves injecting small amounts of carbon dioxide just below the surface of the skin to stimulate collagen because it is a natural function and restructuring of the collagen matrix. Weekly sessions are recommended for a minimum of 10 sessions.

7. Stretch marks treatment Cellulite is an unwanted bulging of orange-colored fat deposits mostly on the back of the thighs, hips and buttocks commonly seen during pregnancy.

8. Stretch marks treatment Laser therapy that uses light energy and radio frequency (radiofrequency) treatment with ultrasound energy and vacuum suction is very effective in treating cellulite. It causes deep tissue heating increasing the metabolism of fat. Treatments can be done once a week for 12 weeks.

9. Stretch marks treatment and lighter

10. Stretch marks treatment Laser treatment, by deposits or treatment of the skin, can cause problems post-partum. The skin deposits may respond to dermal injury and dermal changes. But if these don't work, treatment should be done. Laser treatment should be done with radio frequency and ultrasound while dermal treatment may be done.

11. Stretch marks treatment Radio frequency (RF) treatment has an additional skin tightening effect to help tone skin later in the postpartum period.

12. Stretch marks treatment It's important to have some months after childbirth is after breastfeeding to allow the body to heal or regain hormonal balance before starting these treatments.

13. Stretch marks treatment Spider veins are collections of the group of capillaries in the superficial layer of the skin. These veins are found in the arms and legs. They are caused by a combination of a combination of factors that cause them to form and disappear when they are removed.

14. Stretch marks treatment Not all treatments can be done. Some treatments can be done after breastfeeding. Some treatments can be done after breastfeeding. Some treatments can be done after breastfeeding.

Disheveled brows

Think, defined eyebrows give you a well-defined face. In the summer, your eyebrows should be well-defined. There are many ways to achieve this look, including using a brow pencil, wax, or even a brow lift. The best way to achieve this look is to use a brow pencil. This gives you a better look that is perfect when you're out and about.

There's also a new shade of white that is so close to white that it is a great choice for those who want to look like a blank canvas.
